Students To Cast Ballots During Homeroom Period

By Anita Olozaga and Ann Veneziano

Tomorrow is Election Day at Whitney.

G.O. members will receive written ballots during the homeroom period tomorrow and they will be instructed to cast their votes for the candidates of their choice.

A total of 16 candidates are running for the various offices in next year's G.O. In addition to choosing the President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer of the G.O., the members will be asked to select two representatives to the City Council and two Borough Council representatives.

Candidates for G.O. President

Walter Murrell, a junior majoring in Radio and Television Mechanics, and Stanley Zielinski, a junior majoring in Electrical Installation, are the two candidates for G.O. President.

Two juniors, Ann Langone and Janie Thornton, are the candidates for G.O. Vice-President. Ann is a Beauty Culture major, while Janie is majoring in Health Careers.

The candidates for G.O. Secretary and G.O. Treasurer are all sophomores majoring in Secretarial Practice.

Concetta LaFonte and Rosalie Madaio are the candidates for G.O. Secretary. Elizabeth Cortez and Camille Maggio are the candidates for the office of G.O. treasurer.

City Council Nominees

Two boys and two girls have been nominated to represent Whitney at the City Council meetings. G.O. members will be required to vote for one boy and one girl.

The nominees are John Baldwin, Lorraine Boysa, Carmen Figueroa, and John Huges. John Huges is a sophomore majoring in Cabinet Making. The other three nominees are freshmen.

Four other students, two boys and two girls, have been nominated to represent this school at the Borough Council meetings. Once again, the G.O. members will be required to vote for one boy and one girl.

Michael Auteri, Luis Garcia, Denise Jones, and Carolyn Marano are the nominees. All four students are freshmen.

Requirements for Office

Mrs. Naison, the faculty adviser of the G.O., announced that all candidates for office must meet the following requirements: (1) He must be recommended by students and teachers, (2) He must have a good record of conduct and attendance, and (3) He must have an average of 80 or more.

This year's G.O. officers are: Richard Passarella, President; Margaret Vecchione, Vice-President; Camille Allocca, Secretary; and Frances Krasina, Treasurer.

Whitney's Drama Production: A Tremendous Success

By Rosalie Madaio

Whitney's production of the three-act comedy "You Can't Take It With You," which was superbly directed by Mr. Dolan, proved to be a smashing success in every way. In fact, the presentation was so good that part of it was shown again during the High School Drama Festival which was held at the Hunter College Playhouse on May 10.

This school was one of six New York City high schools that were invited to participate in the Drama

Miss, Mr. Whitney:

Pick Winners Friday

The winners of the fifth annual Miss Whitney and Mr. Whitney contests will be announced this Friday in the gym as part of the Gymorama program.

The finalists in each contest have been competing against one another in several different athletic events during the past month. In addition to the athletic events, all of the finalists were rated on their character and their scholarship.

Miss Whitney Finalists

The Miss Whitney finalists are: Corine Cabbagestalk, Norma Cancio, Elizabeth Cortez, Lorna Dance, Lillie Engram, Carmen Figueroa, Elma Fleming, Rosemarie Gregory, Janet Holliday, Brenda Jackson, Dorine Jennings, and Carmen Medina.

Also, Joan Nebres, Lois O'Neal, Marie Resto, Ana Rios, Hilda Rivera, Janie Roberts, Virginia Rodriguez, Carmen Santiago, Rosa Soto, Alberta Thomas, Jacqueline Turner, Carmen Vera and Carmen Zapata.

Mr. Whitney Finalists

The finalists in the Mr. Whitney contest are: Miguel Acevedo, Jose Berrios, Carmelo Cataldi, John Ciorciari, Angel Colon, Ralph Cuevas, Wilfredo Garcia, Carmine Giglio, Timothy Harris, Larry Hoskey, and Robert Kenon.

Also, John Lesley, Charles Lovitt, Juan Lugo, Steve Mazzo, Walter Murrell, John Palma, Frank Pecorella, August Soto, Isaac Torres, Ivan Vidal, and Bart Vitale.

Last year, Janie Thornton won the Miss Whitney contest, while Russell James was the winner of the Mr. Whitney competition. Both Janie and Russell are members of the junior class.

Festival. The group of critics who made the selection praised the Whitney production and rated it "outstanding."

Students and members of the faculty who saw the school production of "You Can't Take It With You," when it was presented in the Whitney auditorium in March, were unanimous in their praise of the presentation.

Mr. Platt, principal, said: "I thought the production was stupendous and colossal. All the actors and actresses did a very good job. They acted like professionals not amateurs. Mr. Dolan did a superhuman job in directing the presentation."

Praise from Teachers

The comments by the members of the faculty were also very favorable. Several of these are listed below:

Miss O'Dowd: "The scenery was beautiful. The students did a marvelous job."

Mr. Berkowitz: "It was the best high school play I have ever seen."

Mr. Chocianowski: "I saw the Broadway play and I think that the Eli Whitney cast did an excellent job. My wife expresses the same feeling. We had an enjoyable evening."

Praise from Students

Some of the students comments appear below:

Camille Maggio, 3SP1A: "I think that the students who participated in the show did a very fine job."

Patricia Stabile, 1X2: "I think they did a very good job. It was really terrific."

Volunteer Worker Assists In Fighting Blazing Fire

By Camille Maggio

Little did William Turner realize when he began a First Aid course with Mr. Horner last September that he would be fighting a blazing fire as a result.

William, a Cabinet Making major, became so interested in First Aid as a result of his course at Whitney that he took another course in First Aid at the Red Cross. He also joined the Red Cross as a volunteer worker.

On April 20, a huge fire in Staten Island made it necessary for the Red Cross to call upon the services of William and many other volunteer workers. William immediately answered the call.

When he arrived in Staten Island, William was required to perform several important tasks. In all, he did an admirable job in this emergency situation.

"I plan to take an advanced course in First Aid," William said. "After I finish that course, I want to take the instructor's course so that I will be able to teach First Aid."

He added: "This would all never have happened if it hadn't been for Mr. Horner. He's responsible for my becoming so interested in this field."

Mr. Horner said: "I think it's wonderful that this boy became so interested in First Aid and followed through in obtaining more knowledge about it."

First Place

In the last issue of the Green and Gold it was reported that the school newspaper received a second place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. During the association's convention in March, this rating was posted on the bulletin board at Columbia University.

However, when the official rating book arrived at this school in May, it showed that the Green and Gold had received a first place rating instead.

Proficiency Tests

Student representatives from all of the Vocational High Schools in New York City will compete tomorrow in a number of proficiency tests in the following trade areas: Electrical Installation, Cabinet Making, Machine Shop, and Radio and Television Mechanics.

The Electrical Installation test will be held at Whitney.

The winning contestant in each contest will receive a cash prize of $150. Second place and third place awards will be worth $100 and $75, respectively. All of the other contestants will each receive a $25 Bond.

Representing Whitney in tomorrow's contests will be Richard Karkosza (Electrical Installation), Gene Taylor (Cabinet Making), Peter Tarnowski (Machine Shop), and Alfredo Tejeda (Radio and Television Mechanics).

As Graduation Day Approaches

Graduation Day is getting nearer and now is the time for us to make our peace with all those who have helped us through these past years.

It has become a tradition for the Editor-in-Chief of the Green and Gold to write a farewell editorial in the last issue published during the school year. Here is mine.

I know that I now have to face the world as an adult with confidence, ambition, and hope. But I also realize that I never could have been able to do this had not someone taught me how to behave and react to problems that I have faced in school. Surely, there will be problems to face and overcome in the future.

Before I leave, I want to thank all those who made this stay at Whitney enjoyable and informative. I wish to thank the teachers who taught me; the counselors who guided me; and the administrators who disciplined me. While attending classes, I know that at times I have presented problems, and I thank you for straightening me out. On the other hand, you have also caused me a few unhappy moments, and still, I thank you for helping me grow up.

Also, I cannot now forget my parents who worked so hard in preparing me to meet the outside world. They, more than anyone else deserve my love, respect and success.

What else is there to say but "Thank You," and I do say it from the bottom of my heart, "Thank You."

Mary Wieczorek

G.O. Elections

How many of you know the names of this year's G.O. officers? Unfortunately, too many of us answer "what's the difference."

Tomorrow is Election Day at Whitney. Once again, we will have an opportunity to elect our G.O. officers. How should we decide which students to select?

Too many of us vote for a student because we like the sound of his or her name. Others vote for students who are in their own subject classes.

Obviously, a more intelligent method of voting is necessary in order to be sure we are electing the best qualified students. We must examine each student's qualifications carefully.

In a few years, we will be the ones to elect the Mayor of this city, the Governor of this state, and the President of this country. We must not vote in these elections without first getting complete information about all candidates. The same applies in tomorrow's G.O. election.

We urge you to vote for the candidates who are best qualified for the respective offices.

A Superb Show

We are aware that the last issue of the Green and Gold made no mention of the superb Whitney production of "You Can't Take It With You." This was not an oversight. The material for each issue of this newspaper must be prepared weeks in advance.

At this time, we would like to offer our congratulations to Mr. Dolan and the members of his drama group for their outstanding presentation.

Principal's Message

Mr. Platt

Dear Students:

By the time you receive this copy of our Green and Gold we will be engaged in the various end of term activities which usually take place in June. Among these are the final examinations, preparation for summer school, graduation, and reorganizing for next term.

I send you my greetings and best wishes for every success in your final examinations. I hope that you will be able to advance and that those of you who are candidates for graduation will be able to receive your diplomas on June 25.

To you and your families go my hopes for a very healthy and happy summer season. Good luck and health to all of you.

Cordially yours,
Sidney Platt
Principal

ing the play."

Frances Krasina, 5SP3b: "I thought the play was great. The acting and scenery were excellent."

Marilyn Conroy, 5SP3a: "I thought the play was excellent."

Camille Allocca, 5SP3b: "I thought the play was very funny. I enjoyed it very much."

Linda Fedele, 3SP1a: "I didn't think they could put on such a fine performance. They were really great."

Judith Slater, 3SP1a, "I thought the play was one of the best activities that ever took place at Eli Whitney. The acting was good, and the scenery was most attractive."

Mr. Dolan was very pleased with the work done by his drama group. He said: "There are so many people to whom I could express thanks that it would take a special issue of this newspaper to list them all.

"Instead, I want to express my thanks to the 21 members of the cast. They deserve a 21-gun salute.

"While watching them from the wings on the night of both performances, I had the feeling I once had when I was watching a runner in a race who had run as fast as I thought he possibly could, and who in order to win pushed himself past his own ability in order to do so..

"The students in the play accomplished a similar feat. They came out in my opinion real winners in every respect."

A Matter of Planning

By Marilyn Thoretz

Most students enjoy relaxing after a hard day at school. Take high school senior Jane Smith for example.

When Jane arrived home on Tuesday afternoon, she resolved that the first thing she would attend to was her homework. However, as she passed the living room, she saw a newspaper on the magazine rack. Jane decided that she would just take a look at the television listings for the day.

The next moment, she ran to the telephone and hurriedly dialed a number. When her friend answered the ring, she screamed enthusiastically: "Johnny Crab is on Teen Time right now. Hurry up and turn it on."

With that, she slammed down the receiver and turned on the television set. Johnny Crab was the best singer on the show, and since Jane was a loyal fan of his, she thoroughly enjoyed watching him. But by the time the show was over, Jane's mother called her into the kitchen to help prepare supper. Jane firmly stated that she would do her homework after supper.

However, when she finished her supper, Jane decided to write a letter to her friend. After all, her teachers didn't expect her to do her homework when she had just finished eating. Her brain was busy digesting the food and a brain just isn't able to digest food and think of doing homework at the same time.

At eight o'clock, Jane opened her books. Just then, the telephone rang. It was Jane's friend Sally. Of course, she couldn't do her homework, if Sally wanted to talk to her. That would be rude! The girls had a short talk that didn't last a minute more than two hours.

At ten o'clock, Jane finally started to do her homework. She took out an especially short mathematics assignment. It didn't look very difficult. An hour later, she was still struggling with it.

Jane finally climbed into bed at two o'clock in the morning. She was very well satisfied for she had finally finished her homework. She fell asleep while eagerly planning for the new school day.

When she woke up, it was ten o'clock. Jane jumped up. It was too late to go to school. Instead, she spent a delightful day writing long fan letters to Johnny Crab.

When Jane came home from school the next day, she knew that she was going to do her homework before she did anything else. But as she opened the front door, she heard the telephone ringing . . .

Coming Soon

Whitney's school yearbook is coming soon. The Torch will be distributed later this month.

Mr. Alperin, the faculty adviser, said: "I wish to express my appreciation to the members of The Torch's staff and to the Editor-in-Chief, Madeline Guerra, for all the help and the hours spent after school in getting The Torch ready for printing."

1X1, 1T1 Present Geography Exhibit

By Michael Auteri

The classes of 1T1 and 1X1 put their minds and their hands together to form a wonderful geography exhibit this term. The exhibit, which was supervised by Mr. Wiederhorn, was presented during the week of April 28 in room 202.

Visitors to the attractive exhibit usually noticed the section on Africa first. This part of the exhibit was displayed closest to the door. This section included two maps which showed the difference between "old" and "new" Africa. It also contained a physical features map of Africa, showing the various mountains, deserts, and rivers.

The next part of the skillfully-prepared exhibit consisted of posters of different places of interest in Europe and the Near East.

Weather Maps

Next, weather maps were set up next to an exhibit of Chinese exports and imports.

As the visitors moved about the room, they noticed a chart of the United Nations next. The chart included all of the U.N. organizations and their respective functions.

Charts of the Solar System followed. This part of the exhibit was cleverly highlighted by a globe hanging high in the air.

The next part of the exhibit consisted of a population density map showing the populations of the different countries of the world. There were also several maps of Eastern and Western Europe.

Three detailed maps of Russia were displayed in the front of the room. The first of the three maps was an industrial map, which showed the location of coal mines, lumber, petroleum, uranium mines, sheep (wool), dairy products and fish.

The second map was a physical features map, showing the mountains, plateaus, rivers, and lakes of Russia. The third map was an agricultural map, showing the crops which are produced throughout Russia.

As an added touch to the exhibit, a play about life in Russia was presented by three boys from 1T1.

Carol, Mary Teach Lessons

By Julia Santos

Two members of the Future Teachers' club, Carol Novitske and Mary Wiczorek, were each given a chance to teach a class on April 11.

Carol taught Mr. Fink's Bookkeeping 110 class. Mr. Fink felt that Carol did a fine job.

He said: "Carol showed excellent poise while teaching the lesson. I thought that she did an outstanding job of teaching the class."

Mary taught Mrs. Wright's Stenography 324Ra class. Mrs. Wright was very impressed with Mary's teaching effort.

Mrs. Wright said: "Mary did an excellent job and I feel that if she should decide to go ahead with the career of business teaching, she should do well."

Mr. Rubenstein, the chairman of the Academic department, and Mr. Darrow, the faculty advisor of the Future Teachers' club, observed the two lessons. Both Mr. Rubenstein and Mr. Darrow were favorably impressed with the work done by the two student-teachers.

Mary and Carol are both seniors majoring in Secretarial Practice.

Clearance Sale

The G.O. store is conducting a special clearance sale this month. This is a once-a-year opportunity for all Whitney students.

The merchandise in the store is listed at prices far below those of retail stores. In addition to a discount on each sale, students pay no tax.

Also, during this sale, supplies which in the past have been sold to Beauty Culture girls only, will be sold to all students. These supplies include Revlon kits, nylon brushes, hair clips, and manicuring supplies.

Track Team Tops John Jay In Opening Meet of Season

Whitney's track team won its opening meet of the season, defeating John Jay, 61-38, on April 29. Coach Makofsky's squad captured first place in seven events.

Russell James won the 220-yard dash, while Edward Carroll finished third in this race. In the quarter-mile, Alphonso Mingo, Ronald Coy, and William Brackett, finished first, second, and third, respectively.

Robert Kenon won the half-mile race, with Joe Berrios placing second. Ivan Vidal finished first in the one mile run. Theodore Harris was third in this event.

The one-mile relay race was won by the relay team of Mingo, Coy, Henry Jackson, and Brackett. The relay team of John Baldwin, Edward Malpica, Peter Ferguson, and Benny Ford finished in third place.

Whitney also managed to score points in the two other track events. Larry Hoskey and Isaac Felder finished second and third, respectively, in the 100-yard dash.

The relay team of Hoskey, Robert Rosemond, James, and I. Felder, placed second in the 880-yard relay. The relay team of John Lesley, Arthur Slaughter, Carroll, and Frank Brisbane finished third in this race.

Field Events

In the field events, Harris won the high jump, and Jackson finished first in the hop, step, and jump. Lesley finished third in the high jump, and Harris placed second in the hop, step, and jump. Also, William Franklin finished second in the broad jump, and Peter Tarnowski was third in the shot put.

In its second meet of the season, Whitney bowed to Brooklyn Tech, 65-34, on May 6.

Harris and Jackson again won the high jump and the hop, step, and jump events, respectively. Harris also finished third in the hop, step, and jump, while Franklin was second in the broad jump event.

In the track events, Carroll was first in the 220-yard dash, and the relay team of Hoskey, Carroll, James, and I. Felder, finished first in the 880-yard relay race.

James was third in the 220-yard dash, and the relay team of James Felder, Slaughter, Charles Lovitt, and Carroll finished third in the 880-yard relay race.

In other events, Hoskey and Brisbane finished second and third, respectively, in the 100-yard dash, and Coy placed second in the quarter-mile race.

On May 7, the Whitney track team bowed to Brooklyn Automotive, 56-40. In this meet, Kenon won the half-mile race, and the relay team of Mingo, Rosemond, Jackson, and Harris won the mile relay.

Track Events

In other track events, Hoskey was third in the 100-yard dash, James finished third in the 220-yard dash, Mingo was third in the quarter-mile, and Vidal was third in the mile run. Also, the relay team of Hoskey, I. Felder, James, and Carroll placed second in the 880-yard relay.

Whitney finished first in three of the four field events. Harris, Jackson, and Thurmond Outlaw, won the high jump; hop, step, and jump; and shot put, respectively.

Tarnowski was third in the shot put, James Bagwell was third in the high jump, Franklin placed second in the broad jump, and Harris and Franklin placed second and third, respectively, in the hop, step, and jump.

Meeting the Mets

About 75 Whitney students were given a chance to meet the Mets on May 2 as the New York entry in the National League tangled with the Houston Colts. The trip to the Polo Grounds was sponsored by the G.O. Mrs. Naison, Mr. Dolan, and Mr. Viggiano accompanied the group.

Judging from the final score of the game, the Mets should welcome back the Whitney students as often as possible. The Mets walloped Houston, 10-3.

Al Jackson, New York's ace lefthander, pitched the entire game for his second victory of the season. The Mets managed to combine good hitting with good pitching as they registered 13 base hits. The 10-run total and the 13-hit total were the most runs and hits recorded by the Mets in a single game this season.

Following this smashing victory, the Mets proceeded to lose their next three straight games. Alas, the Whitney students were not there to cheer them on to victory.

Tennis, Handball Teams Hope To Improve Next Year

By Judith Slater

Whitney's tennis and handball teams hope to fare better in league competition next season.

With only two lettermen back from last season's team, Coach Abraham's tennis squad lost 5-0 to Tilden, Midwood, and Boys high this year.

The tennis team was led by Co-captains Wally Gonzalez and Luis Maldonado. The other team members included Anthony McMananon, Wayne Czajkowski, Walter Karosza, James Cerbone, Richard Wade, Julio DuBois, and Rafael Rosa.

Handball Team

Coach Mayron's handball team also lost its first three matches of this season. Whitney bowed to Westinghouse and Eastern District by 5-0 scores, and lost to Brooklyn Automotive, 3-2.

Whitney's handball team was led by its captain, Gene Taylor. The other members of the team included Michael Scafuto, Miquez Mendez, Frank Johnson, Robert Hill, and Jack D'Arco.

Late Results

Between the date that the material for this issue first went to the printer and the final press deadline, the Whitney track team won another meet.

Coach Makofsky's squad defeated Westinghouse, 54-45.

The Whitney baseball team lost an 8-7 decision to Brooklyn Automotive, and bowed to Westinghouse, 11-7.

Whitney Nine Looks Ahead To Next Season's Competition

With a team composed mostly of juniors and sophomores, Whitney's baseball squad is already looking eagerly ahead to next season.

"We have a young team," Coach Horner said. "Next year, with the experience that the boys gained playing in league competition this season, we should be much improved."

While the Whitney team did not do too well in league play this season, they did manage to defeat the defending division champions, Eastern District, 5-3, on April 26. Sophomore John Vargas pitched a four-hitter for Whitney in this game.

Included among the other boys who played particularly well this season are Jose Tirado, John Hines, Andrew Cisek, and Neil Rullo. All of these boys are juniors and they will be back next season. Rullo and Hines were the team's co-captains this year.

Practice Games

In addition to the victory over Eastern District, the Whitney squad managed to win one of five practice games. Coach Horner's squad defeated Queens Vocational, 5-2, on April 3. Luis Sanchez and Vargas divided the pitching chores in this game and limited Queens Vocational to only two hits.

The Whitney nine lost league contests to Westinghouse, 12-5; Hamilton, 5-0; and Brooklyn Automotive, 5-3.

In practice games, Whitney bowed to Madison, 8-4; Bushwick, 15-1; Seward, 6-0; and East New York Vocational, 8-2.

Coach Horner said: "This year's team had a great deal of confidence in their ability to battle back. They wouldn't quit. However, in a number of games they beat themselves. They made errors they shouldn't have made."

Looking Ahead
